Dear Parents/Carers

World Book day will take place on Thursday 1st March.

The whole school will be celebrating this day and our theme will be the story by Oliver Jeffers "The day the Crayons Quit".

The children will be taking part in lots of book related activities throughout the day.

As the book is all about the different colour crayons, we would like all the children to come to school on Thursday dressed as a colour. They can wear a jumper or a t-shirt with their school trousers or skirt or a whole outfit of one colour e.g. blue trousers and a blue jumper or a yellow dress. Please don't buy anything new for the day, just use clothes that the children already have.

We hope that we will have a fabulous day with lots of children dressed in bright colours and most importantly we will spend the day enjoying reading.

Yours sincerely

Ms A M Conboy
